Food For Thought

If your horse says no, you either asked the wrong question, or asked the question wrong. ~Pat Parelli

Horses - if God made anything more beautiful, he kept it for himself.

There is something about the outside of a horse that is good for the inside of a man. ~Winston Churchill

The Bluebonnet Horse Expo is Coming....

Bluebonnet Horse Expo
7311 Decker Lane
Austin, Texas

October 11, 2008
9:30 AM – 6:00 PM
www.bluebonnethorseexpo.com

Join the rescue for a day of fun, family, learning and shopping! The 2008 Bluebonnet Horse Expo will include clinics and demonstrations on desensitization, Noavel headstall, trick horses, drill teams, Grand Prix Dressage, Vaulting, body work, trailer loading, Ttouch and more. We'll have vendors selling art-work, clothing, horsey items, home décor and more as well as an exciting Parade of Breeds including Sport Horses, Gypsy Vanners and other exciting breeds. The rescue will be selling new and gently used tack, and plenty of rescue horses will be on hand to greet the public.

To make this a successful event, we need you!

- Hang flyers at feed stores, tack stores, horse barns, and other community bulletin boards. Email Jenn at jenn@bluebonnetequine.org to request a flyer.
- Volunteer Friday for set-up or Saturday during the event or clean up. Anyone who volunteers for at least two shifts gets into the rest of the event free. Email Cheryl at cmmutt70@aol.com to sign up to volunteer.
- Foster homes – bring your foster horses! This is a great chance to get foster horses out in the public and help them find adopters. Each year many horses get adopted as a result attending the Expo. Email Laura at laura@quickco.com to add your horse to the list.
- Donate items. We need tack, horse/ranch items, horse/ranch-themed art-work, clothing or home décor. Donations are tax-deductible and proceeds from the sales help support the horses.
- Become a vendor. Vendor space starts at just $50 and is a great way to support the rescue while getting your products in front of people.
- Become a sponsor. Sponsorships start at $25 and help cover the costs of putting on the event, making it possible for the rescue to use all proceeds from the event to help horses.

If you would like more info on the rescue, please email Jenn at jenn@bluebonnetequine.org. We hope to see you there!
